Restaurants to Rediscover

Delectable cuisine is one of life's finest pleasures. With an incredibly unique array of restaurants in Minnesota, we've rediscovered some of the best places to dine.

Hidden Treasures

Neighborhood restaurants that have a strong local following and are often recommended to visitors from the city or state next door.

FireLake Grill House & Cocktail Bar

FireLake Grill House & Cocktail Bar in downtown Minneapolis distills the essence of Midwestern hospitality

"We are about all things Minnesotan and Midwestern," says Paul Lynch, executive chef at Firelake. "Our recipe of regional ingredients and partnership with local farmers and dairymen makes us a destination in the Twin Cities, Ninety percent of our food comes from Minnesota or surrounding states."

FireLake specializes in unbelievable walleye and double-cut honey pork cops. They have won numerous Beef Backer Awards for inspirational uses of beef. All items are family-style, meant to share.

"Downtown is neighborhood now, and family comes in many forms—friends, coworkers, neighbors," says Lynch. "You'll be instantaneously comfortable when you walk into this restaurant."
